Sielox™ Announces New Hires and Promotions For Its Access Control Team.

Restructured Staff Enhances Sales, Management & Engineering Capabilities.

Las Vegas, NV (April 5, 2006) – Sielox™, a subsidiary of L Q Corporation, continues to solidify its position as a premier marketer of access control systems with a growing roster of new employees in addition to several key promotions. "We are pleased to announce that we are adding to our team with a number of new hires," said Karen Evans, President and General Manager of Sielox™. "I am also excited to have one of the strongest management staffs in the industry ensuring success in our seamless transition."

Sielox welcomes the following new personnel:

George Andrews – Controller

George will be responsible for overseeing all financial aspects of Sielox™ including, but not limited to, invoicing, collections, payroll, cash applications, accounts payable, systems integration and month end reporting.

Jim Cox – Director of Technical Services

As director of technical support and professional service, Jim leads the post-sales support team in interfacing with over 200 of Sielox's™ certified business partners. Support covers the range from call-in support for installation to professional training and out-of-warranty product repairs.

Rob Schofield and Ron Pelosi – Technical Support Specialists

Providing post-sales support to Sielox's™ certified business partners, Rob and Ron will work with them to resolve any issues they might have during the installation and use of Sielox's™ access control products.

Donna Olthoff – Sales and Marketing Administrator

Donna will provide inside sales support as well as assistance in all aspects of marketing functions.

Steve Esposito – Warehouse Supervisor

Responsibilities for Steve will include to verify and receive all inbound product, restock shelves and store overflow, cycle counts, pick, pack, and ship orders, receive CRs and RMAs and ship confirmed orders.

Donna Lee - Software Test Specialist

Donna will be joining Sielox's™ QA group in supporting system level application verification and validation.

Randal Glass - Software Engineer

Responsibility for Randal will include designing, implementing, and maintaining software components for Sielox™ products.

In addition, Sielox™ is pleased to announce the following promotions:

Karen Evans – President & General Manager

Karen is a seasoned veteran of the access control market who formerly held key sales and management positions at Checkpoint Systems.

Andy Lowen – VP, Marketing & Product Management

Andy will be responsible for all pre-sales product planning leadership working with both the software and hardware engineering teams. He will also work with engineering throughout the development cycle and lead all post-sales marketing.

Marc Monaco – VP, Software Engineering

Marc, another seasoned professional with extensive background in access control technology, will oversee software development, sustaining, testing, and technical writing.

Mark Isaacson – VP, Hardware Engineering

With many years of security industry experience, Mark and his team will continue to lead the development of electronic Sielox™ products including intelligent controllers, communication devices, readers, cards, and interface modules. Mark will also manage vendor partnerships and work with industry leaders on technical standards.

Linda Lilly – Director, Customer Service and Purchasing

Linda will manage all functions of customer service, including expediting product to our valued customers. She also will serve as purchasing agent with direct contact with all suppliers.
