Sielox unveils new web site

Sielox, Runnemede, NJ, has completely renovated its web site www.sielox.com. The new site provides valuable information on design and support of access control and security management systems in a highly organized, easy to navigate environment.

The new site makes it easy for end users, systems integrators and consulting engineers to find the information they need to make critical business decisions. The site also provides additional marketing support to Sielox business partners.

Sielox products are available through a select group of system integrators-Business Partners who are factory trained and certified for sales, installation, and service.

Sielox access control and video management products help solve security problems for commercial, educational, medical and government installations around the globe.
